Personal Paragraphs

Directions: Write at least four complete sentences in response to each prompt. If any of your responses has less than that, you'll receive no points for that paragraph. Don't rush through this. You may use the back of the pages or staple on additional sheets of paper if you need more room.

- Direct your writing toward me as your audience, letting me know whatever it is about you that you want me to know. Be expressive; it doesn't have to be dull.
- Write a first draft on separate sheets of notebook paper; use the Proofreading Expectations handout as a guide to proofread your first draft before creating the final version on this sheet.

1. What is love?

2. Which is most important: facts or feelings?

3. What's the biggest difference between how young people and old people view the world?

4. Do you think that people have free will to determine their own futures, or are we controlled by something greater than us?
