Address the following questions AFTER the presentation:

What went particularly well in the presentation?

What parts of the presentation confused you?

Part of the IA involves responding to questions after the ten-minute presentation. What questions might you ask the presenter that would give them an opportunity to boost their score? This could involve asking for clarity about a specific literary device; or helping the student balance the presentation of both texts; or asking a question about the resolution or beginning of a text. Be creative! Record two of these questions below:
